Houston Housing Authority's Response to Shooting at Heatherbrook Apartments

On Monday, November 4, 2024, The Houston Housing Authority (HHA) was notified that a shooting incident occurred at Heatherbrook Apartments, located in Northeast Houston.

According to the incident report received from the third-party property management company, Lynd Management Group (Lynd), an altercation arose between a visitor on the property and an employee of Lynd Group. As a result, the Lynd employee shot the visitor who was taken to a local hospital and has been reported to be in stable condition. Local law enforcement responded immediately. The Lynd employee was taken into custody by law enforcement and resigned the same day of the incident. The HHA is currently examining all of Lynd's policies and procedures.
